ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE OUTSOURCING

Outsourcing of accounts receivable and credit functions is becoming more commonplace in today's business environment, as businesses strive to devote more primary resources to core products and services. Use our checklist to see if your company is a candidate for outsourcing of accounts receivable and credit functions.

- Are you a seasonal business? Seasonal sales cycles often result in overworked and understaffed credit and collection departments.
- Are you a small business? Does your company have a limited credit staff, or no credit staff?
- Has there been an increase in acquisitions? Does your company have an unusual increase in the number of accounts as a result of a merger or acquisition?

At Johnson, Morgan & White, we understand the importance of professional and quick corporate debt recovery, while maintaining a personal approach to help preserve customer relations.

CREDITOR REMEDIES

Following is a glossary of possible remedies we might employ to help recover your corporate debts and improve your cash flow.

Assignment Assigning specified debtor assets to a trustee of the assignee who sells or liquidates the assets and delivers payment to the creditor on a pro rata basis. Acceptance of this payment by the creditor results in a discharge of the debt.

Attachment A court-ordered seizure of property, generally prior to judgment. This action requires posting a bond and strict compliance with state statutes.

Composition Agreement A contract between the creditors and debtor where the debtor's debts are discharged by payment of an agreed-upon sum, usually less than originally owed.

Guaranty A contract where a third party agrees to guarantee the payment of the debt.

Mechanics Lien A non-possessory lien on an owner's real estate for labor, services, or materials furnished to or made on the property.

UCC Security Interest Article 9 interest in collateral, subject to the security interest of the creditor.

REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD WORK WITH AN AGENCY THAT IS A CCAA CERTIFIED MEMBER

Our professional practices will help attain maximum dollar recovery.

Prompt remittance of funds to creditors.

On-going oversight to ensure adherence to a rigorous Code of Ethics.

Minimum $300,000 surety bond for your protection.

Maintenance of separate Trust Accounts for collected funds.

Reputable collection procedures that maintain your customers' good will.

The agency has been in business for a minimum of four years.

Agency executives are required to attend yearly seminars and educational meetings.

Creditors may call on the Agency Association's Executive Director should a complaint arise regarding an agency certified by the CLIA.

WHY WORK WITH AN IACC CERTIFIED COMMERCIAL COLLECTION AGENCY?

Since 2000, IACC has been providing member agencies with the Certified Commercial Collection program. Unlike other agency certifications that are automatically included with membership, IACC certification is an additional voluntary process that requires agencies to earn the right to be recognized as industry experts.

IN-DEPTH CERTIFICATION PROCESS: AGENCY COMMITMENT THAT BENEFITS YOU

Only agencies that are committed to providing their clients with the best business standards possible make it through the IACC certification process. Select an IACC Certified Commercial Collection Agency to guarantee that:

- A third party has performed a detailed audit to ensure that the program's standard operational guidelines have been met or exceeded
- The agency must renew their certification annually to ensure that certification requirements are always implemented. This includes an independent CPA examination of selected procedures to ensure compliance
- The agency adheres to the strict IACC code of ethics
- The agency must attend at least one IACC sponsored event per year to stay abreast of pertinent collection industry information

The professionalism and positive business practices you receive from an IACC Certified Commercial Collection Agency consequently reflect those same qualities about you to your customers, allowing the agency's dedication to high standards become a big two-fold benefit for you!

FDCPA (FAIR DEBT COLLECTION PRACTICES ACT)

The FDCPA is federal legislation that protects consumers from certain debt collection activities. Although the FDCPA generally applies only to consumer, not business, collections and does not apply to first party creditors, you should familiarize yourself with the basic tenets of the FDCPA.

Who does the FDCPA apply to?

In general, the FDCPA applies to:

- Third party consumer collection agencies
- Creditors using a false name
- Creditors collecting for another creditor
- Collection attorneys
- Repossession companies
- Designers or suppliers of deceiving forms
- Debt poolers (for profit)
- Check guarantee services

In general, the FDCPA does not apply to:

- Creditors collecting their own debts
- Assignees prior to default (finance companies, etc.)
- Government employees
- Business credit collections
- Non-profit credit counseling services

What does it protect against?

The FDCPA proscribes certain conduct from which consumers are protected, including invasion of privacy, harassment, abuse, false or deceptive representations, unfair or unconscionable collection methods.

What actions are prohibited by debt collectors under the FDCPA?

- Contact at unusual or inconvenient times, such as early in the morning or late in the evening
- Repeated or continuous telephone calls intended to abuse, annoy, or harass
- Contact with a consumer who is known to be represented by an attorney
- Contacting a consumer at work
- Harassing, oppressive, or abusive contact
- Threatening violence or criminal conduct
- Threatening unlawful or unintended action, including legal action
- Using obscene, abusive, or profane language
- Informing third parties of the consumer's indebtedness
- Obtaining location information about a consumer from a third party
- Non-disclosure of the collector's identity when telephoning
- Using false, misleading, or deceptive representations
- Falsely implying that the collector is affiliated with the government

CREATING A SECURITY INTEREST

The Uniform Commercial Code (UCC) covers any transaction which the parties enter into with the intent to create a security interest in personal property or fixtures, for the purpose of securing repayment of a debt or the performance of an obligation. In order to create an enforceable security interest you must comply with the UCC provisions.

There are some transactions which are excluded and cannot be the subject of a UCC security interest. Excluded transactions include mechanic's liens, certain aircraft and motor vehicles (most motor vehicle security interests are perfected under state motor vehicle laws), wages, insurance contracts, and bank deposits.

A security agreement must be signed by the purchaser or debtor. The collateral to be secured must be identified and be within the classifications set forth in the UCC (i.e. goods, fixtures, general intangibles, instruments or chattel paper). Correct classification is essential for the language to be used in the security agreement and financing statement. The secured party and the debtor must be identified. A security agreement must have a granting clause, which grants a present security interest in the described collateral.

Glossary of Definitions

Attachment

When the security agreement is executed and the debtor acquires rights in the goods.

Perfection

The security interest is perfected when the secured creditor files a financing statement with the state.

Priority

Competing security interests have priority in the order they are perfected, or if unperfected, in the order in which they were attached.

Security Agreement

A written document which describes the collateral to be covered.

Security Interest

An interest in personal property created by the purchaser to insure repayment of a debt.

Note: The above summary is for general information only and is not intended to cover all aspects of the steps in creating security interests. Consult our professionals at Johnson, Morgan & White for advice on specific questions. While the UCC is utilized nationwide, each state has its own variations on the provisions of the code.
